Yes You Can! Raise Financially Aware Kids

Presented by B.D. Horton with American Century Investments and Matt Thompson with Ameriprise Financial

Ever wonder if your children appreciate the value of a dollar? Studies reveal that most of what high school students know about money, they learned at home. This seminar is ideal for those with children or grandchildren ages 3 to 18. Join us for a special presentation focused on practical and useful ways to teach children about money. We'll talk about:

- Children as consumers and their influence on the economy
- Your role as CFP (Chief Financial Parent) - having the 'money' talk with your children and living your financial values
- Teaching kids about money management – earning money, allowances, short-term saving, long-term investing, and spending wisely.
